Record Sales Expected at this week's BIG Spring Lane County Home & Garden Show

Strongest Economic News with Warmer Weather and Record Results at the January & October Home Show.

As Berg Productions finalizes details for their 36th Annual Lane County Home & Garden Show, we are receiving exceptional sales reports from our vendors who participated in our October Home Improvement Show, and the January 23-25, 2015 Good Earth Home, Garden & Living Show. Based on these reports, vendors are projecting the strongest economic predictions in six years from high end retail to small cash and carry, also from landscapers to remodelers.

On top of the vendors being so successful, the show's charities did exceptionally well. Food for Lane County was able to raise 9,900 lbs. of canned food which equals around 5,823 meals for families this winter. Delta Rotary ShelterBox raised over $10,000 at the show, and the show management matched each bringing their total to $20,000. This fundraiser will provide 300 people a temporary housing shelter in nations where natural disasters have recently occurred.

Spring booths filled up fast with excited, new and returning vendors for the 36th Annual Lane County Home & Garden Show to be held March 12-15 at the Lane Events Center in Eugene, Oregon.. The four-day event is presenting the 2nd Annual Landscaper's Showcase Gardens in the Expo Halls – commonly referred to as the Barns.

Homeowners might be surprised that contractors are already booked out months with working coming into the spring show. Show Manager Karen Ramus says "Based on the warmer weather, and the positive reports we have had from contractors and retailers who participated in our October and January home shows, we expect the 36th Annual Lane County Home & Garden Show to be a record breaking show for our vendors."
